Seasons Greetings,

Encouraged by the stupendous response to ONC 2017, it gives us immense pleasure to announce that the Association of Trauma Surgeons of India in association with Dept. of Orthopaedics, S. L. Raheja Fortis Hospital would be arranging Operative Nailing Course 2019 on the 29th - 31st of March.

The venue would be S. L. Raheja Fortis Hospital, Mahim, Mumbai.

During these 2½ days, we propose to conduct live demonstrations of intramedullary fixations of long bones with elaborate discussions on day to day technical problems faced by all of us with masters in the field.

We also propose to include challenging cases like intramedullary infected implants, broken implants, exchange nailings etc which never cease to be a nightmare.

We assure you that we will leave no stone unturned to make this course a learning extravaganza for all of us...

Course Highlights

This 2½ day course intends to brainstorm into the nitty - gritty of Intramedullary fixations of long bones.

We intend to exhaustively cover the following topics during this course:

- IM fixation of diaphyseal and metaphyseal fractures of long bones
- Use of IM fixation devices in the paediatric population
- Technical tips regarding positioning, use of C arm, etc.
- Special instrumentation for removal of broken nails
- Use of nails in infections, deformity correction, fusions and other special situations
- Use of poller screws
- Minimising radiation hazards.

(Please Note: We have taken all possible steps to ensure that enough cases are available for live demonstration, but would be subject to availability at that time.)
